This was done amid shouts of "apologize" from the company, addressed to the discomfited Transatiantic Fenian, whose arder appeared to have been cooled by the Hibernian argumentum ad raciem he had encountered. Cards, however, were exchange between the contending parties, and after considerable difficulty a meeting with pistols was arranged between them. THE ESCAPE OF STEPHENS-VISIT TO HIS CELL-HOW HE MADE HIS EXIT FROM PRISON. Dublin (Nov. 24) Correspondence London Herald .. I have been to Stephens' cell, and over NOW RECEIVING A LARGE STOCK all the passages of his escape. He could not possibly have escaped without the aid of one or more accomplices. After leaving his cell, the padlock of which had been opened by a skeleton key, he had to pass through about eight locked doors, all of which he or his aiders left opened, except one, which was relocked to prevent pursuit From the lunatics' dining-room two tables were carried across the prison-yard to the wall bounding the Governor's garden, and placed one over the other, which only reach-ed to about six feet of the wall, which is twenty feet high, so that expernal as well as internal aid must have been employed. There has been great excitement in the city during the day. Three of the doors had two locks. There is no clue to the hiding-place of the fugitive.

HOPES OF HIS CAPTURE-SOME OF STEPHENS ANTECEDENTS. [From the London Times, November 25] The Head Center of all the Fenians of

who was apprehended only a fortnight ago, has just escaped from Richmond Prison, probably by the connivance of some of the prison officials. As the Government has offered £1,000 for his re-capture, and £300 more for information, he will probably be soon again in custody; but the event is likely to cast suspicion on the fidelity of an Repudinted. important body of men, and to increase the caution with which the Irish Government deals with these troublesome conspirators. Stephens, who has been raised by the Fenian authorities, or has raised himself, to the office and dignity of chief of the republican plotters, was, we believe, originally connected with Mr. Smith O'Brien, and learnt treason in the school of the rebels of 1848. He has, however, only emerged into history since the scheme for making Irc-land independent by American aid has been formed on the other side of the ocean. As a man endowed with more than the usual Fenian education, he took the lead, and attained at once the high position which, unless he succeeds in making his escape from Ireland altogether, is likely to give him an unpleasant pre-eminence in punishment. But for the present he seems to have baffled justice. While the lawyers of the Queen's Rench were discussing the question of a Bench were discussing the question of a certiorari at a length which encumbers our

of every description, in the highest perfection. A single trial is sufficient to bring it into general use in every family.

I cardiorar at a tength which encumbers our columns, Mr. James Stephens moved a more effective certiforar himself, and post-poned his trial before the Special Commission by the simple expedient of breaking prison. We have as yet no means of knowing how he made his escape, and how far ing how he made his escape, and how far any one at the Richmond Prison is connected with it. But Mr. Stephens is a man of any favorable disposition on the part of a turnkey, whether it arose from political sympathy or readiness to pocket a bribe. The Fenian exchequer has been so flourishing, owing to the prosperity and enthusiasm of the brethren across the Atlantic, that any reasonable number of sovereigns would no doubt, be forthcoming. It now remains for Mr. Stephens, baving made his escape, to avoid a second capture. The reward offered for his apprehension will make the chase after him very hot, for it is not often that in any country a prize of £1,300 is held up before the eyes of the police. But, to judge from his rest exploits he is outle carelle. Scanlon, Chicago, Ill.; J. W. Fitzgerald, from his past exploits, he is quite capable of giving his pursuers some trouble. It is Cincinnati, Ohio; P. O'Rourke, New York City; P. Banning, Louisville, Ky.; W. Sul-livan, Tiffin, Ohio; Wm. Fleming, Troy, N. Y.; Patrick J. Mechan, New York City; Edward Carey, New York; W. R. Roberts, President of the Senate Fenian Brotherrelated that on the night of the seizure o the Irish People he changed his appearance with peculiar readiness, and procuring a pair of crutches, made his way to a place of shelter. This was Fairfield House, Sandymount, which he occupied under the rame of James Herbert. It had been furnished was adonted: with much elegance, no doubt out of Feul-an fueds; the garden and greenhouse were complete, and twelve pounds worth of plants were purchased from a neighboring nursery on the very day of the capture. The preparations of the police for taking him and his companions were very elaborate, but it turned out that the work was much easier than they expected. They entered well armed, with pistols in their hands, but Stephens thought fit to submit

The Boston poet, bookseller and publisher, J. T. Fields (Ticknor & Fields), is well known for his wonderful memory and knowledge of English literature. It is said that when any author in the neighborhood is at a loss for any particular passage, he goes at once to the book-store for the desired information. The London Review tells this accorded of him:

anecdote of him:
One day, at a dinner party, a would-be wit, thinking to puzzle Mr. Fields, and make sport for the company, anounced, prior to Mr. Fields' arrival, that he had himself written some poetry, and intended to submit it to Mr. Fields as Southey's. At the proper moment, therefore, after the to submit it to Mr. Fields as Southey's. At the proper moment, therefore, after the guests were seated, he began: "Friend Fields, I have been a good deal exercised of late, trying to find out in Southey's poems his well known lines running thus: (repeating the lines he had composed). Can you tell us about what time he wrots them?" "I do not remember to have met them pefore," replied Mr. Fields. "and there were only two periods in Southey's life when such lines could possibly have been written by him." "When were those?" gleefully asked the witty questioner. "Somewhere." asked the witty questioner. "Somewhe said Mr. Fields, "about that early pe sottened, and he had fallen into idiocy. The versification belongs to the measter period, but the expression clearly betrays the idiotic one." The questioner smiled faintly, but the company roared.

communicated to the newspapers until af-ter his departure by the mail steamer on Saturday for New York, which took place. Another quarrel, originating in Fenian politics, resulted in a murder in Liverpool on Sunday night. A poor fellow named Mc-Manus, who had only arrived in port on Sunday morning, was in a public house at night, when he engaged in a controversy on Fenianism with a young man named Me-Kenna. There was a quarrel and an ap-parent reconcilitation, but McKenna sud-denly drew his knife and fatally stabbed McManus. He also wounded a man named O'Grady, who interposed. The Action of the Fenian Senate - Important Proceedings - The Fenian President's Quarrel with the Senate-The Fenian Bonds [Special Dispatch to the Cincinnati Enquire: 1 NEW YORK, December 6.

The following action was taken by the Fenian Senate to-night, in secret session, and is considered of vital importance, showing an absolute break between the Fenian President, O'Mahony, and the Fenian Sen-SENATE CHAMBER, 734 BROADWAY. WHEREAS. The Schate of the Fenjan Brotherhood has received authentic information that bonds to the amount of $68,000. purporting to be raised on the credit of the Irish Republic, are about to be put into circulation, and have, in some instances, already been sold and issued to parties as genuine, valid bonds of the Irish Repub-lic; and, whereus, these bonds bear on their face the name of a party as agent of the Irish Republic, who not only has never been confirmed for that position by the Senate of the Fenian Brother-hood, as Is required by the Constitu-tion, but, on the contrary, was rejected by that body when submitted for such confirmation; and, whereas, the Sen-ate of the Fenian Brotherhood has been in session at 734 Broadway for some days, and has duly notified the President of the Fenian Brotherhood of such session without receiving from him any nomination for the position of agent of the Irish Republic, and as all the bonds so issued are invalid and issued in violation of the Constitution; therefore, the Senate of the Fenian Brotherhood hereby notify the mem-bers of the Fenian Brotherhood and the public at large, that all such bonds are in-valid and illegal, and that the issue and sale of such bonds shall be dealt with as a rraud. On organization, in accordance with the annexed resolution adopted by the Senate. a copy of which was handed to the President of the Fenian Brotherhood, signed by Jas. Gibbons, Philadelphia, Penn.; Michael hood, the following additional resolution Resolved, That the President of the Fenian Brotherhood be and he is hereby noti-fied, that no bond of the Irish Republic shall be issued without the signature of the Agent of the Irish Republic duly nomina-ted by the President of the Fenian Broth-erhood, and confirmed by the Senate of the Fenian Brotherhood; that if any bonds shall be issued without the signature of such duly appointed Agent, such issues will be illegal and unconstitutional, and this Senate will feel bound to treat such issues as a fraud on the organization, of which
